

Heavy Hangs The Albatross

Alesana

I've made up my mind and I will be leaving
Leaving this cruel, dark world
For the soulless to share
But first Women will shriek and watch their husbands bleed
Children will cry and watch their mothers die
Because tonight, tonight we all go to hell
Why? I have to let go of what happened to my love
I am taking out on everyone else
All the problems I've brought on myself
When I made your heart melt
My belle, we soon will meet again There's nothing left for me to lose
Except confusion
I'm finished trying to tell myself this will go away
There's no one left to talk me down
My feet are slipping One day, oh, I hope my name doesn't bring back memories
Of the day that I left her
Goodbye, so long, my heart belongs to the one
I am chasing after For better or even for worse
Remember me forever Now the only question left is how
To take you all down with me
The coroner will have his hands full tonight
That is if he is not among the dead Dead will choke the streets
With such vulgarity that grown men will weep
And then you will find
The end is drawing night There's nothing left for me to lose
Except confusion
I'm finished trying to tell myself this will go away
There's no one left to talk me down
My feet are slipping One day, oh, I hope my name doesn't bring back memories
Of the day that I left her
Goodbye, so long, my heart belongs to the one
I am chasing after For better or even for worse
Remember me The dizziness stuns me
Would someone please distract me?
Can I really get through this?
Can I really betray myself?
For better, for worse, remember forever There's sweat on my hands and a knife at my throat
And as the blade bites my skin Annabel appears
For better, for worse, remember forever One day, oh, I hope my name doesn't bring back memories

Of the day that I left her
Goodbye, so long, my heart belongs to the one
I am chasing after For better or even for worse
Remember me forever
