So I Wait

Kaedyn Kashmir

I tell you everything, everything wrong with me. I have to
It may be wrong, pathetic
Don't go tell anyone else about me

I don't need anything just your words
In front of me

Cause they aren't enough, enough
To make me smile

So I wait for you to appear
The way that you treat me
The way that you're here
So I deny how much you care
The way that you notice
When I am not there
So I sit and I wait for you

Wish I never met you
It would be easier for me that way
I wouldn't know about you
I wouldn't miss out on anything you had to say

Cause you are everything
It's your way. It's your way. It's your way
I know you are enough, enough to make me smile

So I wait for you to appear
The way that you treat me
The way that you're here
So I deny how much you care
The way that you notice
When I am not there
So I sit and I wait for you

Never knew anyone who got me like you do
Never knew anyone oh no who understood
So I sit and I wait. I wait for you

So I wait for you to appear
The way that you treat me
The way that you're here
So I deny how much you care
The way that you notice
When I am not there

So I wait for you to appear
The way that you treat me
The way that you're here
So I deny how much you care
The way that you notice
When I am not there

So I sit and I wait
So I sit and I wait
For you. For you
