

Falling

Olivia Newton-John

You won't regret falling, the bruises you get falling, will all fade away
Don't analyse falling, don't try being wise, falling
Forget all your plans, they're out of your hands
You're falling, falling, falling

Blindly you go falling, the last one to know you're falling, you suddenly see
There's no way to fight falling, no rescue in sight, you're falling
You let love inside and hope she'll abide, you're falling, falling, falling
The world that you face is some other planet in space
You taste something new every moment
It thrills you, fills you, you're falling
(Solo)

I have to defend falling, 'cause if you should end falling
I hope you'll be free to spend time with me
Falling, falling, falling, just falling, falling, falling
Falling, falling, falling
