To Move With Purpose

The Naked and Famous

i've seen a million different people a million different faces none that i can recalli've heard a million people yelling ranting about nothing talking out of turnand it's not enough to say i wanna get back home and it's not enough to say that i'll never let go to say that i'll never let go to say that i'll never let goi've been round and round in circles constantly repeating who the hell are you i felt nothing for the pretty lights that make you dizzy dancing in the day"take this seriously, don't be cynical you won't see..." endless point of viewi've seen a million different people
none that i can recalland it's not enough to say i wanna get back home and it's not enough to say that i'll never let go
