

Bring on the Rain

Breed 77

from this side of the wall the glass is always empty haven't seen light for days i've opened my eyes still i can't see i didn't start the war now - who's gonna pay? who's gonna pay? will they come back for more divided we stand - forgotten we fall
who's gonna hold your hand when no one is left to turn to who's gonna stop the rain can't stop myself from drowning who will remember your name when all of the bodies are counted i say bring on the rain
from inside of this cage the scraps we have to beg for we are the spoils of war the truth stained the rain cannot wash away lighting the fire makes you feel taller makes you feel empty still the nameless inherit the earth divided we stand - forgotten we fall now wait for the rain to bury us all end
