Road to Yerevan

7th Order

"Road to Yerevan" - 7th Order (Pugh/Jones) 2004@7th Order Songs ASCAP we're pulling out when the convoy appears the time is up when you hear the whine of the gears weigh the odds against the loss and the gain no way of telling what damage we'll sustain two days journey through the desert and valleys opinions differ on an accurate tally when the sun sets on this matter my friend i'll meet you there on the road to yerevan

engines humming
crackshot drumming
peace is coming
i can feel it clouds in the distance melting in to the blue the hills we'll climb begin to come into view lay down your burden get some rest while you may the dawn approaches for an eventful day upon the moment of wisdom's arrival we must agree upon the terms of survival as we wake up to the truth of the plan

i'll meet you there on the road to yerevan

engines humming
crackshot drumming
light of forgiveness, show us the way wager my life against the often told tale make the journey to the home of the grail my soul's prepared for the battlefield a vivid image still reflects in the shield pain of past sorrows, yet to yield the scars are there from the wounds long healed great many years from our very last stand meet you there - on the road to yerevan ancient temples sacred keystone on our way home

i can feel it

on the road, on the road on the road to yerevan

on the road, on the road...

centuries have passed and lives have been lost humanity can't tabulate the cost i stand before you with the facts in my hand holding out the hope you may understand all these centuries, lives have been lost humanity can't tabulate the cost

i stand before you with the facts in my hand
holding out the hope you may understand

Lyrics submitted by raw lindice.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/