

Mattress

Vincent Liou

I never knew you could fall out of love
Until I met youWhen we cross
The state lines
Is your heartbeat still not mine?
Is your heartbeat stillAs you spin that ring round your finger
I hope the diamond on that thing buries you
When he's in your sheets for another night
I hope the floor under your mattress falls through
I hope the floor under your mattress falls throughBetween seas below
And heavens above
Is there anything I wouldn't do
To get you backWhen we cross
The state lines
Is your heartbeat still not mine?
Is your heartbeat stillAs you spin that ring round your finger
I hope the diamond on that thing buries you
When he's in your sheets for another night
I hope the floor under your mattress falls through
I hope the floor under your mattress falls throughAs you spin that ring round your finger
I hope the diamond on that thing buries you
When he's in your sheets for another night
I hope the floor under your mattress falls through
I hope the floor under your mattress falls throughAs you spin me round your finger
You leave my body aching stiff and sore
When he's in your sheets for another night
I hope the floor under your mattress falls through
I hope the floor under your mattress falls through
