

Los Angeles

Denison Witmer

i remember thinking that you'd never leave praying in your bedroom before i fell asleep i still feel the moment when you came alive like a poem about springtime nothing to hide
all of these homes are lined up so straight but here on the inside, it's not that way i gave you my life and more from sadness to sunshine, i'm yours, i'm your lost happiness up in your los angeles sky lately i've been thinking that you'll never know if you don't mark the way back the further you go lately i've been feeling like i'm the bright star that fell behind the mountain of feeling you are

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com written by WITMER, DENISON STUART

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group, EMI Music Publishing

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>