Pieces

Claire Voyant

You lie, you lie in consequence
You stay as part of sympathy
Can it be you'd break?If the thoughts and words collide
You might cry to fate
This tension is part of me
This chemistryAll that I have ever known
Is in pieces of light in the shadowsYou take, you take this honesty, this symmetry
And you wait, you wait for suffering
Can it be that you stay
When thoughts and worlds collide?You might hide but you take
You can take this whole of me
Can it be?All that I have ever known
Is in pieces of light in the shadows
It's like I think I was immune
To the pieces of me in the sun and in the shadowTonight the wounded heart's deafening
You wait for all of these things I believe
But you live, fear won't change a word, destiny
But you rain, reign over my heart and [Incomprehensible]All that I have ever known
Is in pieces of blue in the shadows
It's like I think I was immune
To the pieces of me in the sun and in the shadowTonight the wounded heart's deafening
You live here, you won't change a word
So just believe
