

In Your Light

Living With Lions

Get up in the morning and I can't keep it in,
I'm falling all over myself
and I could jump out of my skin.
Wanna break the door down,
just to greet the day.
There is nothing that's more certain
To keep my blues away, and I say...
La la, hey hey-ey
And it can settle the sadness,
and the voices in my head.
When I'm in the glow of the warmth you through,
I can put all that to bed.
In your light, just when I'm in your light.
And I won't get by if you take that light away.
When you're smiling on me,
that is all I need,
To put behind me all my worries,
and life's complexities.

It may be only a moment,
but the world just falls away,
And I forget myself and everything else
That depressed me yesterday.
And I can sing
La la, hey hey-ey
When I'm in your light,
all of this is clear,
If only I could always be just as I am here.
In your light, just when I'm in your light.
And I won't get by if you take that light away.
When I'm your light,
nothing brings me down,
If only I could always feel just as I do right now.
In your light, just when I'm in your light.
And I won't get by if you take that light away.
When I'm your light,
all of this is clear,
If only I could always be just as I am right here.

In your light, just when I'm in your light.
And I won't get by if you take that light away...!
