Password please use the password it opens the door to my heart
Password love is the password just say the words of love and come on in This game of love we're playing is a game that's played by two
Two that seem so much in love still one cannot be true We played this game of love before but this time I hope
I'll win
'Cause I don't think that I can go through this game of love again
Password please use the password just say the words of love and come on in Password please use the password...
