

Another Story

Electric Youth

Who can help me out
I know I wasn't born with this flag upon my head
He ran away
he said that he'll be back and I'm hoping he's not dead Said that the day you hear that sound of my footsteps on the ground lock all of the doors and answer to nobody I know all that I'll die today
I close my eyes to find my way
and the world in time to them it's just another story
I know all that I'll die today
I close my eyes to find my way and the world in time to them it's just another story I don't know how but somehow I made it out for the first time now plain. This world is strange So how i'm supposed to find my way but the screaming above my head then I'll talk what I heard them sound of your footsteps on the ground and in time we ask that it never be you.
I know all that I'll die today
I close my eyes to find my way
and the world in time to them it's just another story. I know all that I'll die today
I close my eyes to find my way
and the world in time to them it's just another story.
