Home

Tyler Wood

The first time i found you i new i had change yeah you showed me true love dident push me away the things ive seen my eyes cant erase must be loseing my mind got to get out of this place one of these days it will all be gone and when it comes im headed home to the blue skys my fathers arms open wide waiting there to welcome me home on the other side leaving this world behind feel like ive been born again no ill never live my life in fear cause i know as soon as my work is done here im headed home ive fought thru the darkness ive been a wreck ive been forgivin when i wasent my best cause you turned the light on and lit up my soul now i can see theres only one way home to the blue skys my fathers arms open wide waiting there to welcome me home on the other side leaving this world behind feel like ive been born again no ill never live my life in fear cause i know as soon as my work is done here im headed home the end of the road aint no ordinary place its much more than just amazing grace the faith in your heart is what will open them gates.
Lord take me home to them blue skys my fathers arms open wide waiting there to welcome me home to the other side leaving this world behind i feel like ive been born again no ill never life in fear cause i know as soon as my work is done here im headed home

Lord take me home

Lyrics Submitted by Hunter Thomas Daugherty

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/