

There's Always an Excuse

311

There's always an excuse when you need one
There's always an excuse when you need one
Aw, always a reason for someone
There's always an excuse when you need one
There's always an excuse when you need one
Aw, always tiptoe around the turncoat today, yeah
Which mood is it gonna be today, yeah
This time you've done it, you hurt yourself good
Your best friend is gone and it's understood
All alone and no singing at a true L.A. style
Your phone stopped ringing
There's always an excuse when you need one
There's always an excuse when you need one
Aw, there's always an excuse when you need one
There's always an excuse when you need one, always
Shut it down, get it right
'Cause a person can't win if they don't even put up a fight
Get it right
Everyone has got something that keeps them awake in the night
That's a fact
Don't think of the times that you gave up and let out some slack
Take it back
Don't think you're the only one going through it
Take it back
There's always an excuse when you need one
Always, aw, aw, always
