Bob Dylan

Nine Days

Bobby's in the basement

Making his movie

He paints a little picture

But not to be cheesyHe wants this little girl

To believe in him easy

Bristles to the canvas

Imagining he feels highInspiration of my heart

Search for light out of the dark

All the pictures in my heart

Lie awake there in my fogThis oasis in my arms

I approach it with disarm

Though it might do me some harm

Stop to catch me if I fallBobby's in the basement

Making his music

He never won't stop though

Not to abuse itIf there's some other way

That they only would use it

He lives another day

But they always refuse itLacerations of my heart
Dropped down in pieces in the dark
Mixed the words up on this page
Makes the purple turn to beigeInspiration of my heart
Search for light out of the dark

All the pictures in my heart
Lie awake there in my fogThis oasis in my arms
I approach it with disarm

Though it might do me some harm

Stop to catch me if I fallIt's just like Bob Dylan says
Stop depression of my own
Walk the only road I know
If I am only dreamin'

Then I am not that far from itSow the strength that grows from seeds
Worship creativity

If I am only dreamin' then me an' Bob
Are not that far today
So long as I'm youngBobby's in the basement
Making his musicI search the beaches walk the sand
I cut my feet on broken glass
Strap the sandals on my feet

I'm run down but I still hit the streetInspiration of my heart Search for light out of the dark

All the pictures in my heart

Lie awake there in my fogIt's just like Bob Dylan says

Stop depression of my own

Walk the only road I know

If I am only dreamin'

Then I am not that far from itSow the strength that grows from seeds

Worship creativity

If I am only dreamin' then me an' Bob

Are not that far today

So long as I'm young

So long as I'm youngBobby's in the basement

Making his movie

But not to be cheesyHe wants this little girl

To believe in him easy

Bristles to the canvas

Imagining he feels high, highInspiration of my heart

Desperation of my heart
