I Believe

Ra

I'm doing all I can... to separate your hate from me
It always seems to be the way you look at me...
That gives it all awayNo one around you cares, about you or your sacred ways
They only see a sacred fist, they only see a bomb todayI believe in a world that can take you high
In a place where patience can prevail
I believe in a thought that can set you free
And the seeds of hatred always failIn your mind you can't forget what evil has been done to you
It lives in what you say or do and dictates your reality
But your soul is clean, disinfected by your innocence
And while it makes no sense, you pursue a slave's insanityI believe in a world that can take you high
In a sky where sunshine breaks the clouds
I believe in a thought that can set you free
In a mind that hears it's heartbeat
LoudBut you won't let go... because you're always right
And you won't say no, so you die tonightI believe in a world that can take you high
In a place where patience can prevail
I believe in a thought that can set you free
And the seeds of hatred always fail
I believe in a world that can take you high
In a sky where sunshine breaks the clouds
I believe in a thought that can set you free
In a mind that hears it's heartbeat
Loud.... (so loud)
