

Happiness Comes In a Box

Yellow Red Sparks

Will I make you happy? Yes I will Build a house on a hill
We'll tow all the neighbors
I'll move them away
And we'll raise the stakes
Just you and me

I'll cry if you're lonely
Or cough when you're sick
And I'll wake you up
With one simple kiss
And you'll be reminded
Of all that we were
When all that we are
Is more than before

And the hardest part is in the fact
That we never win
And the hardest part is in learning to love
Where you've never been

But I'll make you happy. Yes I will
If you can pretend that we're still
More than a number in somebody's race
Will numbers run out eventually?

And the hardest part is in the fact
That we never win
And the hardest part is in learning to love
Where you've never been

If you'll say we jumped over moons
Then I would believe and pray that it's true
Ferocious in stones that we have both thrown
Just to cover the shame together we've made
Lovers they'll lead you all over this planet
With all of your paths (past) it's too much to ask
Babes if you leave me take nothing for granted
Except ash for ash fall ash

I'll smile if you're laughing, I'll pray when you're not I'll help you climb stairs if you just can't walk
And I'll be your safety, if you'll be my love
Some charm (char) for the cares
You know they always ensnare

It's awful, it's awful
torture
An awful or an artful
Torture
