

As Sure As The Sun

Black Rebel Motorcycle Club

So now everybody's gone
You see no change has come
In every song you've ever sung
You find the words were wrong
But now the time is gonna come
And there's no feeling lost
For everyone who could've loved
And made me not to love
And all the time
I thought your words were mine
You held me down as sure as the sun
You held me down as sure as the sun
Now I could see into your eyes
But there's no compromise
For anyone you coulda saved
But never recognized
And now your worries gonna fall
But I won't help at all
For everyone who sees the place
Who knows they can't belong
And all the time
I thought your words were mine
You held me down as sure as the sun
You held me down as sure as the sun
You've taken away much more than you gave

What keeps me down?
I'm lost in a rage no one can explain
What keeps me down?
What keeps you down?
So now that everybody's gone
You see no change has come
In every song you've ever sung
You find the words were wrong
And every paper that you read
You feel your spirit grieve
For everyone who's gonna fall
The distance another leaves
And all the time

I thought your words were mine
You held me down as sure as the sun
And all the time
I thought your words were mine
You held me down as sure as the sun
You held me down as sure as the sun
You've taken away much more than you gave
What keeps me down?
I'm lost in a rage no one can explain
What keeps me down?
What keeps you down?

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>