

Satellite (Mt. Wolf Remix)

Meadowlark

Was alone last night, leaving black and white leaving black and white
Circling the site, I'm your satellite
I'm your satellite
The thought of your skin on mine
was enough to break me down
The thought of your skin on mine
What is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?
I've no control, my relentless soul
my relentless soul
You have pierced my will, though you're standing still you are standing still
The thought of your skin on mine
was enough to break me down
The thought of your skin on mine
What is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?
I thought I found a way to fight
But what is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?
I thought I found a way to fight
What is your love, what is your love?
What is your love, what is your love?

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>