Siddharta

You came from around that little place and danced like a superstar you seem to be ready to go out and have some fun today
Can't think of another way to make myself a perfect play
In Disco Volante I'll be waiting right behind the bar we might be surprised but I think it will be a special night
And hopefully talking isn't everything that you like
And then you finally came I can't tell you how I'm feeling so we don't need to fuck each other off
I felt very funny when we didn't know just what to say a couple of glasses of red wine made everything complete
I saw it in your eyes undressing me was something that was sweet
And after a while we left the place we took a taxi home so glad when I realized you didn't want to be alone
Of course I accepted it made me feel like I was Mr. Bone
And then you finally came I can't tell you how I'm feeling so we don't need to fuck each other off
