Mending Fences

John McCutcheon

You haven't said a single word to me this morning
Still upset about the fight we had last night
Well life's to short for silence in the hallway
Darling won't you look me in the eye?
Time has come for mending fences, a little love, will fix things up
I know you care, let's stop pretending, we've been cold long enough
So heart to heart, why don't we start mending fences?
We don't have to be so stubborn and heard headed
All those hurtful things we said don't matter now
So how about a hug, let's start forgivin'
There's just one way to work this out
Time has come for mending fences, a little love, will fix things up
I know you care, let's stop pretending, we've been cold long enough
So heart to heart, why don't we start mending fences?
We may not always see things eye to eye
So come a little closer and let's compromise
Time has come for mending fences, a little love, will fix things up
I know you care, let's stop pretending, we've been cold long enough
So heart to heart, why don't we start mending fences?
Oh, mending fences
