It's hard to bleed a man
Hard to bleed a man
When you know where he's falling to
Hard to bleed a wall
Hard to bleed a wall
When the bricks and the sand are youAnd although we were very thirsty
I question the oasis
And although we were very lonely
I question the woman's love
Question the Gods above
Hard to bake the bread
Hard to bake the bread
When you're standing outside of the kitchen
Hard to join the dance
Hard to join the danceWhen you know the song is poisoning everyone
When you know the song is poisoning everyone
When you know where he's falling
Question...
Yeah, you know where he's falling
Question...
The woman's love, the Gods above.
