Sleep Song

Graham Nash

When you were asleep I was kissing your forehead
You gave a frown so I kissed you again
You started waking and put your arms round my waist
Just making sure I was there then you drifted away
Then you drifted awayAnd when I awoke I found out I'd been dreaming
Some of my bed clothes were still on the floor
I looked around realized you were leaving me
I saw the back of your dress as you slipped through the door
As you slipped through the doorAnd when I return I will kiss your eyes open
Take off my clothes and I'll lie by your side
Then I will wait till the sandman has done with you
And as you're sleepily rise you'll find I'll be there
You'll find I'll be there, there
