All That

Hazen Street

I believed, believed in you
The things you said, said not to do
You made the rules, you always broke
Behind the scenes its all a jokeWell I believed, believed in you
I've come to realize the sad truth
You're not the person, you claim to be
You're not sincere to say the leastI wish I could tell the worldAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingI've always been, been myself
Never tried to be someone else
Stayed true, respected you
When times were tough, I saw the truthLook up to no one except yourself
That's what I've learned from everyone else
'Cause what I see, when I look at you
Is disbelief, that's the honest truthI wish I could tell the worldAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingI believed in you, I believed in you
Now I believe in me, I believe in me
I wish I could tell the world
All thatAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing
Doesn't mean, mean anythingAll that, that you say
All that, that you preach
All that, what you sing

Doesn't mean, mean anything

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/