Hearse

Magnum Carnage

I don't want to strive for nothing anymore,
I just want to lie here with you,
keep the wolves outside the door, there is nothing in this world you could ever show me that could ever matter more.
Little baby
in the next room dreaming, is just icing on the cake, there is nothing like dancing, our dance of give and take,
one step forward,
one step sideways,
a helpless feeling,

when the earth shakes.
I will always be your lover, even after our atoms are dispersed, we will be pushing up daisies, and my crush will just be getting worse, I will follow you into the next life, like a dog chasing after a hearse.
I just don't want to strive for nothing anymore,
I just want to lie here with you,
Keep the wolves outside the door,
There is nothing in this world you could ever show me that could ever matter more...
