

Wandering Lovers

Christine and the Queens

Let the sun pour on your skin
Let it shine
We won't take no other order Tonight I stood up for you
In the crowd
Life has never felt so widened It's true when they say
We are not fitted for each other
But here's the appeal
I've never wanted someone more One
Are the water and the rock
Are the litter and the chalk
My love made them move made them melt One
With my fingers I will draw
The road where we need to go
My love made us move, made us melt Let the rain wind on your face
Let it steep
This is such a sweet surrender Tell them that we may be gone for a while We're about to drop the anchor You're a wake up call
What is tremendous
Is divine If they don't want you
They'll turn us into Wandering lovers One
Are the water and the rock
Are the litter and the chalk
My love made them move made them melt One
With my fingers I will draw
The road where we need to go
My love made us move made us melt

Songwriters

Heloise Letissier Published by

Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>