Break Even

Striking Justice

Well this is pretty low, it aint the bottom
Still a long way to go, could I get you to follow
It all comes down to this just give me a reason
Cause I know I?ll know I?ll never win, we could break even Cause I really don?t care, I really don?t care whose side I?m on
Cause there is always room at the bottom once the line?s been drawn
And I know I?ll never win, just let me go on believing
But there is still a chance that we could break even
Well this is gonna hurt, I can ease your pain
Cause once you?ve felt the fire you don?t mind the rain
If you go down, down, down out in the deep end
Could you pull me up just enough to break even

Cause I really don?t care, I really don?t care whose side I?m on
Cause there is always room at the bottom once the line?s been drawn
And I know I?ll never win, just let me go on believing
But there is still a chance that we could break even
There?s still a chance, still a chance she could save me
There?s still a chance I?ll just bring you down
Cause I really don?t care, I really don?t care whose side I?m on
Cause there is always room at the bottom once the line?s been drawn
And I know I?ll never win, just let me go on believing
But there is still a chance that we could break even
There is still a chance that we could break even
Yeah
I just wanna break even
