

In My Father's House

Mirel Wagner

In my father's house,
Everything is nice.
In my father's house,
Everything is right. We play our part,
We know it by heart.
We play our part,
We know it by heart. The picture is on the wall,
Never look into your eyes.
The picture is on the wall,
Never look in the eye. The children are polite,
You never hear them cry.
The children are polite,
You never hear them cry. The women are kind,
They work their time.
They change your sheets,
You don't have to say please. My father's house. Up in the chimney,
Down in the cellar.
Up in the chimney,
Down in the cellar.
There's a terror,
and it hides. My father's house.
Here in my father's house.
My father's house.
Here in my father's house.
