The Day You Leave Me

Stine Bramsen

What if my eyes go blind?
What if my legs go numb?
Will I even breathe
The day you don't need me?
What if I choke in terror?
What if my heart implodes?
Will I cease to be
The day that you leave me?Cause I have nothing when you go
The only truth I know
I will have nothing, baby
Nothing left to show
Cause I'll be broken without you
My body torn in two
I will be broken baby
Broken when we're through
How will your towers rise?
How will the roses bloom?
Will they turn to stone
The day you don't need me?
Oh, oceans will turn to acid
Mermaids will never swim
They'll be lifeless and cold in the sea
The day that you leave me
Cause I have nothing when you go
The only truth I know
I will have nothing, baby
Cause I'll be broken without you
My body torn in two
I will be broken baby
Broken when we're through
Tell me how can I breathe
How can love be
When you're not holding me
Tell me how can I breathe
How can love be
Tell me how can I breathe
How can love be
When you're not loving me

Tell me how can I breathe
How can love be
Cause I have nothing when you go
The only truth I know
I will have nothing, baby
I will be broken without you
My body torn in two
I will be broken baby
Broken when we're through
When you leave me
When you don't need me
When you won't hold me
You won't hold me
