Let's Just Forget It

Jerry Williams

There was a hurricane and I named it after you
I saw someone with your face upon an eve of midnight blueI spilt his wine on the table
Visions of a new beginning
And I see your smile like you've woken up to snow butHoney, you said it better than I could ever say it
Just hold your arms around me
This cruel world, let's just forget itHoney, you said it better and I bet you regret it
Cradle me like a baby
This cruel world, let's just forget it
Under a velvet sky, I saw the spark in your eye
Wondering who am I, what will be and the reasons why
Just like the poetry, in my favourite book you call to me
Lost together, we could be forever in a tapestryI spilt his wine on the table
Visions of a new beginning
And I see your smile like you've woken up to snow butHoney, you said it better than I could ever say it
Just hold your arms around me
This cruel world, let's just forget itHoney, you said it better and I bet you regret it
Cradle me like a baby
This cruel world, let's just forget itLet's just forget it
Let's just forget it
Well let's just forget
Let's just forget
Honey, you said it better than I could ever say it
Just hold your arms around me
This cruel world, let's just forget itHoney, you said it better and I bet you regret it
Cradle me like a baby
This cruel world, let's just forget it
