Just When You Think It's Safe

Green Carnation

Death appears in me
No fate is what I see
Sanity reviews
Reaching out her cold, cold handI drowned love
I drowned hope
Changing the way it goes
Changing how it all flows
Changing how it all flowsJust when you think it is safe
To go back out again
I am still around you
Just when you think it is safe
To go back out again
Life is an illusionThe window facing the street
The very last thing to see
The one with the little girl (hanging out)
My very last moments of lightI saw her face
She was so pale
She had eyes so blue
And the colour of her skin too
The colour of her skin tooJust when you think it is safe
To go back out again
I am still around you
Just when you think it is safe
To go back out again
Life is an illusion

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/