

Skulls & Saviors

The Redemption Song

from years gone by a light still shines, keeps us side by side through separate ways.
six years pass by like a kiss and a smile, but some things will never change. take me home or let me die.
so if i never see you again in flesh and blood until the day i die, i'll take comfort in knowing i'll see your face on the other side,
for we are brothers, a bond stronger than bloodlines,
and these roots run deep, this is not goodbye.
write my name in your blood.
if you never see my face again until the other side, remember the times weve shared and know this is not goodbye.
