

You Can Lift Your Dress Like Nobody's Business

Paddock Park

Your shades cannot lie the stories that they could tell
If your walls could speak the filth they could spill Your shades cannot hide the stories that you tell
If your walls could speak the filth they would...
(spill) always what you were all that he ever needed
(with fingers crossed) will hold you close just for tonight
Making memories I was remembering how could you be so bold Your shades cannot hide the stories that they could tell
If your walls could speak the filth they could spill Your shades cannot lie the stories that they tell
If your walls could speak the filth they would...
(spill) always what you were all that he ever needed
(with fingers crossed) will hold you close just for tonight
Making memories I was remembering how could you be so bold

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnyrics.com/>