Mark My Words

For All Those Sleeping

You're fucked now.
Did you think I wouldn't find out?
Secrets don't last long in this town.
And neither will you.

At the rate you burn bridges, you will burn out.

You are a waste of a life.
You are a waste of my time.

I'm not the one who made you this way,
but I'll be the one to make you wish you never changed.

Don't tell me you're sorry,
because I know, oh, I know you're not.
Don't waste your breath on me.
I won't hold mine.

Give it away,
'cause you're the rease that you're falling apart.
There's no way I'd ever forget you,
but mark my words, I'll never miss you.

You're fucked now.
I can see you now, but you'll never see it coming.

You're lower than dirt,
and that's where you belong.
Face down in the ground,
not making a sound.

Someday you'll find that the countless times
you stepped on me were fueling my fire.

Come on, what are you waiting for?
Step up!
This is what I've been waiting for.
Step up!

Make your move,

if you have the guts to.
Make your move,
I'm standing right here.

Don't tell me you're sorry,
because I know, oh, I know you're not.
Don't waste your breath on me.
I won't hold mine.

Give it away,
'cause you're the reason that you're falling apart.
There's no way I'd ever forget you,
but mark my words, I'll never miss you.
