

Honest Affection

Kye Kye

I never knew that I was so harsh with things I thought I wasn't afraid of I never knew that I was so scared to change because of honest affection
to change because of honest affection
longing, yearning
hoping. looking
over your words
stuck on your heart
a part of me just wanted to know but the other part was always so wasted my heart was always made to be still to wait because you promised you'd save it
to wait because you promised you'd save it I never knew I was in a place hiding to avoid any signals I close my eyes and picture your face and see a look I never envisioned longing, yearning,
hoping. looking,
over your words
stuck on your heart
a part of me just wanted to know
but the other part was always so wasted
my heart was always made to be still
to wait because you promised you'd save it
to wait because you promised you'd save it
longing, yearning,
hoping. looking,
over your words
stuck on your heart
a part of me just wanted to know
but the other part was always so wasted
my heart was always made to be still
to wait because you promised you'd save it

Lyrics provided by <https://damlyrics.com/>