

Heart Shake

Morgan James

And I want you like lightning wants to black out the city below
Cause when I look at you, you look back at me with those eyes of stone
You smell so sweet when we're underneath the satellites
And I can see the sea so sizzily in your eyes So now I'm letting go
And I throw myself into the sky
There ain't no need for little goodbyes
But if I come home, will you still be there?
Will you still be there? You make my heart shake like a rolling stone
You make my heart shake out of control
You make my heart shake and I don't need your fool's gold Oh la la And I'll never forget the way your silhouette always gave me chills
And even now as we're lying dead I think you know how it feels So now I'm letting go
And I throw myself into the sky
There ain't no need for little goodbyes
But if I come home, will you still be there?
Will you still be there? You make my heart shake like a rolling stone
You make my heart shake out of control
You make my heart shake and I don't need your fool's gold You make my heart shake like a rolling stone
You make my heart shake like it's out in the cold
You make my heart shake and baby it's taking its toll You make my.. You make my heart shake like a rolling stone
You make my heart shake out of control
You make my heart shake and I don't need your fool's gold You make my heart shake like a rolling stone
You make my heart shake like it's out in the cold
You make my heart shake and baby it's taking its toll

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>