Song Of Yesterday

Black Country Communion

I hold, the passion
For many years, i would listen
The heavy weight upon my chest
Like a wailing wall
Code of silence of a dying heart
Don't know where the end begins and the truth starts
When the hammer falls it falls on you
I sit here waiting, waiting
I pull back the veil and I just can't breathe, UH
And I fly away, fly away
Like a song of yesterday
Freezing night an oil lamp burns
The suns fire, will soon return
Broken castles, the flags still flown

Like a living ghost
Code of silence of a dying heart
Don't know where the end begins and the truth starts
When the hammer falls it falls on you
I sit here waiting, waiting
I pull back the veil and I just can't breathe, UH
And I fly away
Break it down, so low you don't know where you been Try a little harder, now you're the drunk mad man in jail
I fly away
Gonna fly away
gonna fly away
Im reaching out
Like a song from yesterday
