

Unexplained

Big L.C.T.

They're some things that you
Can't explain
We live on this earth to love and learn
And the critics live to hate
Some things never change
Did you see that look on her face
How did I become this way?
Looking at these objects
Tryna find a trace
Love was so close, now it's far away
And I'm asking God, please
Take him to a better place
(But why would you when he lives like this?)
Everything he needs plus some
Gold on his wrist
(He gave up on love but not everybody wins)
It just feels different when you the ghost of a kid
He don't belong with these humans no more
Bring him up here to the 13th floor
And we can take a look off the balcony
We are one person unaware of our surroundings
Without your phone can you tell me what's happening?
I missed a text and I thought that I was drowning
Look behind, that's you in the past
2 years ago today in that history class
Why was you frowning?
You felt so afraid
Low hopes, predictions of getting bad grades
Like everything mattered
Not like it does today
Not like it does
June 17th, 2013 the day the bombs dropped
Made you hide away
Who knew this grey would determine a fate
Ya you even saw it coming but knew it was too late
Now we keep workin' never taking breaks
Tryna hide the pain like everything's okay
Okay
Oh, K(Chorus)

So please understand if I can't smile tonight
I keep my eyes closed I can't handle the light
I need to be alone, lone soul, soul, soul, soul
(X2)You said you should talk to my dad

Like, maybe he could sign you to
A record label

And take you further than you ever imagined
And take you further than you ever have fathomed

And what happened?

What happened?

Baby, darling what happened?

It's several months later

And I've takin' it further than

We both ever imagined

Further, than we both ever had

Fathomed

I started my record label

I'm coming up out the stable

And I'm supporting independant

Artists and we topping the charts

When the rest of the industry bombin'

Just some basement rhymes

That nobody wanted

This a basic time

And nobody's flauntin'

Technique is lost

See it's all about the product

Relationships forgotten

It's all about the promise

Roses to the ground

Because not everybody is honest

But you was different

You was sitting on that rock

Somewhere dark, in the park

And you just wanted to talk

I held you hand tight

I didn't want it to stop

Then the sun came up

It was time to walk away

Misunderstood in my mysterious

Ways

Might never find the one

Until I hit the grave

Heaven untouched

Like it's such a safe place
Wish I was a locksmith
Had a key to the gate
Your whole world change
When you don't have faith
These days become darker
When you making mistakes
I know I love the dark
But it's making me break
I was Phased by the haters
That was calling me fake
I forgot how to write
So I'll say it off the top
Never good with words
When she put me on the spot
1 last chance
To make right of wrong
Looking back, I guess it's Gone(Chorus)
So please understand if I can't smile tonight
I keep my eyes closed I can't handle the light
I need to be alone, lone soul, soul, soul, soul
(X2)
