Interference

Thom Yorke

We stare into each other's eyes
Like jackdaws, like ravens
The ground may open up and swallow us
In an instant
An instantBut I don't have the right
To interfere
To interfere
I don't have the right
To interfere
To interfereIn the future, we will change our numbers
And lose contact
In the future, leaves will turn brown
When we want themAnd I don't have the right
To interfere
To interfere
I don't have the right
To interfere
To interfere
I don't have the right
To interfere
To interfere
