

A Man Is Still a Man

Morgan Heritage

A man is still a man
Whether he wears jacket and tie or he walks bare feet
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil
A man is still a man
Whether he's rich or poor, black or white for sure
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil You see lots of different people in the street
Wiping car glass windows
This is what they do day to day
Just to get a little food to eat
And then u have others wearing suit and tie
Work a good 9 to 5
And take it for granted, that they're living a better life I say the color of our skin don't mean a thing
If you do good or commit to sin
Where all judged by the same, JAH is his holy name
So let's all be aware, of how we entertain angels unaware
For angels do move through man, whether hear or from there A man is still a man
Whether he wears jacket and tie or he walks bare feet
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil
A man is still a man
Whether he's rich or poor, black or white for sure
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil
Never mind class, creed, or race
Or the wealth of a man
Be sure when living life
We treat all man right
For we are all the same in the most high's sight A man is still a man
Whether he wears jacket and tie or he walks bare feet
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil
A man is still a man
Whether he's rich or poor, black or white for sure
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil Lots of different people live in the streets
And wipe car glass windows
This is what they do day to day
Just to get a little food to eat
And then u have others wearing suit and tie
Work a good 9 to 5
And take it for granted, that they're living a better life A man is still a man
Whether he wears jacket and tie or he walks bare feet
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil

A man is still a man
Whether he's rich or poor, black or white for sure
The only difference is, whether he's good or evil
