The Maze

Dokken

Down these halls with many doors Around each corner, right back where I startedDeep inside my mind, it seems I try to find an open door to go through So they can see that I'm all rightWanderin' 'round inside without a key Watching with these open eyes Locked inside the place that no one sees Talking to eternity, trying to explainWhy I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same Thought I'd finally find the way But I'm right back where I startedNow I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same Thought I'd finally find the wayAnother door, an empty room No one seems to have been here for some time Where have they gone? Endless world of corridors Searching for the one that shows the way They look the same that I remainWanderin' 'round inside without a key Watching through these open eyes Locked inside the place that no one sees Talking to eternity, trying to explainWhy I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same Thought I'd finally find the way But I'm right back where I startedNow I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same Thought I'd finally find the wayDown these halls with many doors Around each corner, right back where I startedDeep inside my mind it seems I try to find an open door to go through So they can see that I'm all rightNow I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same Now I'm right back where I started Another door, another room I've been this way before All the corners look the sameNow I'm stuck inside the maze All the corners look the same
