stubborn (its a shame)

3T

Baby I've been being cool with you for quite a while Tryin' to pick and choose my fights coz girl that's more my style
But lately I've been so confused
The way you act it just ain't you
What am I supposed to do
You know that it's not fair whenever you say
You've given me all you can
When you say you want to find another man
Well I'm not gonna be your fool
Tell you what I'm through with you
You're constantly breaking the rules
And I refuse to play your silly games

It's a shame that you're never gonna change
I can see that you'll always be the same
What you do ain't what you say
You just sit whine and complain
And it's a shame babe
That you're never ever gonna change your ways

Girl you act like you are perfect well guess what you're not
Who was there for you when you were down yeah you forgot
The time and love I gave to you
What's up with your attitude
Your middle name it should be rude
Still I don't really care whenever you say
You never wanna speak again
When you say I'm not a gentleman
Well baby I got news for you
I'm packing up and leaving you
You ain't gotta see my face again
Coz I can't take your stubborn ways

It's a shame that you're never gonna change
I can see that you'll always be the same
What you do ain't what you say
You just sit whine and complain
And it's a shame babe

That you're never ever gonna change your ways

Even if we tried our best to work it out
You'd find something else in two weeks to complain about
You never smile you just focus on the negative
And that's not the way you ought to live
So you say you want another man
Well baby understand
He's not gonna want your stubborn ways
And girl you know it's a shame babe

It's a shame that you're never gonna change
I can see that you'll always be the same
What you do ain't what you say
You just sit whine and complain
And it's a shame babe
That you're never ever gonna change your ways

It's a shame that you're never gonna change
I can see that you'll always be the same
What you do ain't what you say
You just sit whine and complain
And it's a shame babe
That you're never ever gonna change your ways
