

The Beach Is for Lovers (Not Lonely Losers)

Neck Deep

Intro

Sat on the step, count it all back
Let it all go to prevent a crack
And it seems I miss you dearly
You find my side, so I'll find the time
I'll grow up some day, but for now I'm fine
But I wish that you were near me. Verse One:

Glory days, oh, glory days behind me
Show deep and tainted skin

I'm well aware, so don't remind me
How I can't seem to win, accept defeat
And curse the cracks of empty streets
I don't wanna tell the same sad story
Even I did, you'd just ignore me Chorus:

I wear myself out, trying to find an ending
And I'll work this out when I stop pretending
That I could never let this go

There's more to life than just chasing ghosts
But then hindsight's 20/20 Verse Two:

My old man once said take heed
Don't wait until you're just like me
To look back over history with nothing but regret.
So all my friends will have fun forever

Live today, and die together
We don't want to tell the same sad story
Heard it all before and that's fucking boring Chorus:

I wear myself out, trying to find an ending
And I'll work this out when I stop pretending
That I could never let this go

There's more to life than just chasing ghosts
But then hindsight's 20/20 Chorus After Bridge:

I wear myself out, trying to find an ending
And I'll work this out when I stop pretending
That I could never let this go

There's more to life than just chasing ghosts
But then hindsight's 20/20
