

You Left a Flower

The Rankin Family

But I should have known I'd never see you again
You broke my heart You just won't let You came to me
In time, oh please Left a flower As she told the seed I can see you now
With someone new And I see the smile In your eyes so blue
You're just another Hungry enough to see Left a flower As she told the seed
You put your picture Upon my wall You built me up Just to make me fall
But I should have known The way you breathe Left a flower
As she told the seed I'm sad for you And you're even waiting
Your eyes so blue On a winter day You're always searching
As close to me You left a flower As she told the seed I'm your picture
Upon my wall You built me up Just to make me fall
But I should have known The way you breathe You left a flower
As she told the seed I should have known The way you breathe
You left a flower As she told the seed You crushed a flower
And you stole from me

Lyrics Submitted by Dave B

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnllyrics.com/>