

Heaven Can Wait (Band Version)

Gamma Ray

Too many people, too much trouble, too many problems in the morn.

Another sunrise in the rubble, another ship sunk by the storm.

Some little angel tries to tell me that it's over.

It's just a bad reflection from above.

The load upon my shoulder makes me stronger, even bolder.

Oh no no, I haven't had enough. Heaven can wait, 'til another day.

Cause there ain't no reason to leave.

The world is a stage where we all can play.

Another fine reason to live, and heaven can wait, heaven can wait. Each day a new reason to give up, each day another reason to sigh.

A hundred thousand ways to live up, a hundred thousand ways to try.

Hey, little angel, don't you tell me that it's over.

You're just a bad reflection from above.

The load upon my shoulder gives me reasons to get older. Heaven can wait, 'til another day.

Cause there ain't no reason to leave.

The world is a stage where we all can play.

Another fine reason to live, and heaven can wait, heaven can wait.

Heaven can wait, let it wait, let it wait, let it wait.

Our eyes are close but they should be open wide

Let's listen to the voice that's calling from inside.

Let's stay alive and move on, on our way

Heaven - can wait

'Til another day.

Songwriters

KAI HANSEN Published by

Lyrics © THE BICYCLE MUSIC COMPANY Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>