Rewind

Figurine

This romance is fading, I'm tired of complaining
Every single move you make ends up being a big mistake
You constantly embarrass me in front of friends and family
But I'm not quite ready to let goIf we rewind and start again
Will things be any different?
Our love sometime will start and end
Will it go on if we try again?If we could rewind all that's happened
I'd still make all the same mistakes
I've tried my hardest since we started
I'd do the same if we replayed the tapeI'm still remember the first thing
I loved about you
But can your smile save our love
From the problems I speak ofIf we rewind and start again
Will things be any different?
Our love sometime will start and end
Will it go on if we start again?If we could rewind all that's happened
I'd still make all the same mistakes
I've tried my hardest since we started
I'd do the same if we replayed the tapeInstead of rewind, I'd like to remind
You of all the good times that we've seen
And if you're still sore, try fast forward
And see how empty your life will be without me
Without me, without me
