

Battalions

Metal Church

Deep slumber awakened by sirens
I realize life's been thrown to the lions
What I saw last night, our city so fair
And to my horror, the bloody town square

The time is now, we must avenge

We form tonight, we kill tonight

We must rest to regain our strength

We form tonight, we kill tonight

Battalion advances surrounding their backs

In the night we'll attack with no questions of mercy

We'll take all they have and we'll drive them before us

Hear lamentations of women who cry for the loved ones we crush to avenge

Gather all survivors, the forces

retreat

They've leveled our city, there's rubble in the streets

Surprise attack with no explanation

What will we do with a demolished nation?

Death to come for what they've done

Stab their backs, their necks will crack

Stronger than ever, our guns held high

Stab their backs, their necks will crack

Battalion advances surrounding their backs

In the night we'll attack with no questions of mercy

We'll take all they have and we'll drive them before us

Hear lamentations of women who cry for the loved ones we crush to avenge

The people have organized an army of vengeance

Struck them down, the bodies just like remnants

Dogs of war, like lepers that are shunned

We stand proud, the battle has been won

The time is now, we must avenge

We form tonight, we kill tonight

We must rest to regain our strength

We form tonight, we kill tonight

Battalion advances surrounding their backs

In the night we'll attack with no questions of mercy

We'll take all they have and we'll drive them before us

Hear lamentations of women who cry for the loved ones we crush to avenge

Lyrics provided by

<https://damlyrics.com/>