

Cold Feelings

Social Distortion

Uninvited feelings

They come without warning and they stay too long
I don't want to feel, and if I run they'll be twice as strong.

I wait for a warning, I'm waiting for some kind of sign,
I try to separate, Try to separate my body from my mind.
I watch the clock as the second hand slowly goes strolling by.

I don't want to feel

When a loved one's time comes to die

I wait for a warning,

I'm waiting for some kind of sign

I try to separate, try to separate my body from my mind.

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right.

And though I try I just can't hide

Cold feelings in the night

Yeah I got faith,

But sometimes fear it just weighs too much I don't want to feel,

Cold winds blowin' through me with an icy touch.

I wait for a warning, I'm waiting for some kind of sign.

I try to separate,

Try to separate my body from my mind.

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right.

And though I try I just can't hide

Cold feelings in the night

Cold feelings in the night

You know, this feeling just ain't right.

And though I try I just can't hide

Cold feelings in the night

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by NESS

Lyrics Â© Sony/ATV Music Publishing LLC

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnlyrics.com/>