Clear Blue Eyes

Amos Lee

When I look into your clear blue eyes
I could cry, I could cry
When I think of what they've put you through
You know it tears me up insideLeft alone in your darkest night
By the one you trusted most
How come they expect you to
Be such a gracious host?When you look upon that heart of shame
Now I have to face
All these accusations and questions that
Are aimed at your disgraceNow you are left in the darkest night
By the ones you trust the most
But now just follow blind ambition
Like a promise of unknown costsWhen I look into your clear blue eyes
I could cry, I could cry
When I think of what they put you through
You know it tears me up inside
You know it tears me up insideYou know it tears me up inside
