Every Season

Nichole Nordeman

Every evening sky, an invitation

To trace the patterned stars

And early in July, a celebration

For freedom that is oursAnd I notice you in children's games

In those who watch them from the shade

Every drop of sun is full of fun and wonder

You are summerAnd even when the trees have just surrendered

To the harvest time

Forfeiting their leaves in late September

And sending us insideStill I notice you when change begins

And I am braced for colder winds

I will offer thanks for what has been and what's to come

You are autumnAnd everything in time and under Heaven

Finally falls asleep

Wrapped in blankets white, all creation
Shivers underneathAnd still I notice you when branches crack
And in my breath on frosted glass
Even now in death, you open doors for life to enter
You are winterAnd everything that's new has bravely surfaced
Teaching us to breathe

And what was frozen through is newly purposed
Turning all things greenSo it is with you and how you make me new
With every season's change
And so it will be as you are re-creating me
Summer, autumn, winter, spring
